Leadership Academy

Tom Attivissimo, CCIM is the CEO of Greiner-Maltz Co. of Long Island. He has been a Commercial Real Estate Professional for over 30 years and manages a team of seasoned professionals. Tom has expertise in all aspects of the Commercial Realty Value chain including an engineering/finance background and holds the coveted CCIM designation, validating his position as a recognized expert in the disciplines of commercial and investment real estate. He carefully matches the needs of clients with ideal locations. Though Tom utilizes publicly available data metrics to advise clients, he and his team have cultivated a proprietary database of market reports, statistical analyses and other metrics which have helped in making crucial decisions. Professionals and Clients alike rely on these proprietary data sources to make informed, strategic transactions.
